

News > Changes > New development web site

New development web site

2017-05-06 - Burner EOAS - Comments (0) - Changes

A new development web site has been set up at dev.eoas.ubc.ca. This site is intended to support ongoing development in a safe area that will not conflict with our production web sites. This site is not world-accessible, interested parties from off-campus must first use the University's myvpn.ubc.ca service (and eos context), to connect to the internal University network.

On-campus locations in the Department of Earth, Ocean and Atmospheric sciences should already have access.